

Eucalyptus curtisii (Plunkett Mallee)

Beautiful, fast-growing small tree with smooth grey bark and honey-scented cream blossoms in spring, which attract birds and bees. Protected plant due to rarity. Can be pruned down to its large woody, mallee tuber. Manageable on a suburban block.

Type: Tree to 6m
Aspect: Full sun
Soil: Adaptable
Habitat: Open forest understorey

Special features:

- Attracts –
 - Bees
 - Birds
- Clay Tolerant
- Drought Tolerant
- Frost Tolerant
- Salt Tolerant
- Fragrant Foliage