

Ficus superba var. henneana (Deciduous Fig)

Deciduous, strangling fig with buttressed trunk and slender spreading or weeping branches. Milky sap. Bark is grey or reddish-brown. Stipules to 10mm long. Leaves alternate, glabrous, to 12cm long. Spherical fruit to 20mm, yellowish, turning red to purple with pale spots. Figs ripe January to July. Generous fruiting attracts birds.

Type: Tree to 15+m
Aspect: Full Sun/Part Shade
Soil: Adaptable
Habitat: Riverine/Dry
Sclerophyll

Special features:

- Attracts –
 - Birds
 - Insects
- Bush Tucker
- Park Tree