

Grevillea robusta (Silky Oak)

A medium sized tree, growing to around 35 m in riverine, subtropical and dry rainforests. Leaves are long, dark green and hairless on top with a fine covering of silky hairs below. Flowers are orange-yellow, toothbrush-like branched racemes in spring. Woody, brown-grey, 2-segmented seed capsules to 20mm.

Type: Tree to 15+m
Aspect: Full Sun
Soil: Adaptable
Habitat: Dry Sclerophyll

Special features:

- Attracts –
  - Bees
  - Birds
- Drought Tolerant
- Street Tree
- Timber Tree